Modifications (not altering text):

- C3 Application of Chapter extended (1.01.2011) by Social Welfare (Consolidated Contributions and Insurability) (Amendment) Regulations 2010 (S.I. No. 684 of 2010), art. 7, in effect as per art. 2.
 - 3. In these Regulations "the Principal Regulations" means the Social Welfare (Consolidated Contributions and Insurability) Regulations 1996 (S.I. No. 312 of 1996).

Application of section 17 to contributions by Public Office Holders.

- 7. Chapter 1 of Part II of the Principal Regulations shall apply to contributions by public office holders under Chapter 5A of Part 2 of the Social Welfare Consolidation Act 2005 (No. 26 of 2005) and, in such application, any reference in Chapter 1 of Part II of the Principal Regulations to—
 - (a) "employee" or "contributor" shall be read as a reference to a public office holder in receipt of remuneration in respect of the holding of a public office,
 - (b) "contribution" shall be read as a reference to a contribution by a public office holder under section 30B(1) of the Social Welfare Consolidation Act 2005,
 - (c) "employer" shall be read as a reference to a public body, as defined in section 30A of the Social Welfare Consolidation Act 2005, that is responsible for, or authorises, the payment of remuneration to a public office holder.

Deduction of contributions by employers from earnings and emoluments.

- 7. (1) An employer shall, on making any payment of earnings or emoluments to a contributor, deduct from the earnings or emoluments—
 - (a) the appropriate amount of any contribution due by such contributor in respect of that payment of earnings or emoluments, or
 - (b) where the said amount cannot at the time of making such payment be ascertained, the amount reasonably believed by the employer to be so due.
- (2) Where the amount deducted under sub-article (1)(b) is greater than the amount due by the contributor, the employer shall repay the difference to the contributor.
- (3) Subject to sub-article (4), a contribution payable by a contributor, other than in the case of a special contributor, shall not be recoverable from him by his employer otherwise than by deduction in accordance with sub-article (1) or under the provisions of F18[Regulation 9 of the Regulations of 2018] as applied to contributions.
- F19[(3A) The obligation on an employer to deduct any contribution due in respect of a notional payment shall have effect as an obligation to deduct the contribution from any payment of earnings or emoluments actually made by the employer to the contributor on-
 - (a) the day the notional payment is made, or
 - (b) if there is no actual payment of earnings or emoluments made to the contributor on that day, the next day on which an actual payment of earnings or emoluments is made to the contributor following the time when the notional payment is made to the contributor.]

(4) Where an employer on making any payment of earnings to a special contributor deducts therefrom an amount less than the amount of the contribution due by the contributor, the Minister, on being satisfied that the employer took reasonable care to comply with the provisions of these Regulations and that the under-deduction was due to F20[an insufficiency of actual payments made to or on behalf of the employee or] an error made in good faith, may direct that the amount of the under-deduction shall be recovered by deduction from any subsequent payment of earnings to that contributor during the same contribution year.

C4 Application of article restricted (1.12.2005) by Social Welfare Consolidation Act 2005 (26)/2005, ss. 13(10)(a)(ii) and 21(3)(a)(ii), S.I. No. 923 of 2005.

Interpretation.

2.—(1) In this Act, save where the context otherwise requires— ...

"Regulations of 1996" means the Social Welfare (Consolidated Contributions and Insurability) Regulations 1996 (S.I. No. 312 of 1996);

Employment contributions.

- (10) Where, for a year of assessment (within the meaning of the Tax Acts), the Revenue Commissioners and an employer enter into an agreement under a specified provision of the Act of 1997 whereby the employer will account to the Revenue Commissioners, in accordance with that provision, in respect of the income tax due on qualifying emoluments (within the meaning of that provision) and where that agreement is not null and void, then in respect of those qualifying emoluments-
 - (a) the employer-
 - (i) as part of that agreement and in so far as the qualifying emoluments are comprised of reckonable earnings of an employed contributor to which the agreement applies, shall pay a contribution at a rate of 14.05 per cent in respect of the aggregate of the amount of those reckonable earnings and the amount of income tax payable under the agreement in respect of them, and
 - (ii) notwithstanding section 13(4) or Article 7 of the Regulations of 1996, shall not be entitled to recover from an employed contributor any part of a contribution paid in accordance with subparagraph (i), and
 - (b) a contribution paid in accordance with paragraph (a)(i) shall not be regarded as an employment contribution for the purposes of any benefit specified in section 39(1).
- (11) In subsection (10) "specified provision" means any provision that may be prescribed for the purposes of that subsection.

Rates of self-employment contributions and related matters.

(3) Where, for a year of assessment (within the meaning of the Tax Acts), the Revenue Commissioners and an employer enter into an agreement under a specified provision of the Act of 1997 whereby the employer will account to the Revenue Commissioners, in accordance with that provision, in respect of the income tax due on qualifying emoluments (within the meaning of that provision) and where that agreement is not null and void, then in respect of those qualifying emoluments—

(a) the employer—

- (i) as part of that agreement and in so far as the qualifying emoluments are comprised of reckonable emoluments of a self-employed contributor to which the agreement applies, shall pay a contribution at a rate of 3 per cent in respect of the aggregate of the amount of those reckonable emoluments and the amount of income tax payable under the agreement in respect of them, and
- (ii) notwithstanding Article 7 of the Regulations of 1996, shall not be entitled to recover from an employed contributor any part of a contribution paid in accordance with subparagraph (i), and
- (b) a contribution paid in accordance with paragraph (a)(i) shall not be regarded as a selfemployment contribution for the purposes of determining entitlement to any benefit specified in section 39(1).
- (4) In subsection (3) "specified provision" means such provision as may be prescribed for the purposes of that subsection.

Amendments:

F67 Deleted (6.04.2001) by Social Welfare (Consolidated Contributions and Insurability) (Amendment) (No. 2) (Contribution Rates) Regulations 2001 (S.I. No. 134 of 2001), art. 4(a), in effect as per art. 2.

Intermediate employers.

- 39. (1) Where a special contributor works under the general control and management of a person who is not his immediate employer, that person (referred to in this article as the principal employer) shall be deemed to be the employer for the purposes of the Principal Act and the immediate employer shall furnish the principal employer with such particulars of the special contributor's earnings as may be necessary to enable the principal employer to comply with the provisions of these Regulations.
- (2) Where the special contributor's earnings are actually paid to him by the immediate employer—
 - (a) the immediate employer shall be notified by the principal employer of the amount of contributions to be deducted or repaid when the earnings are paid to the contributor and the immediate employer shall deduct or repay the amount so notified to him accordingly, and
 - (b) the principal employer shall make a corresponding deduction or addition on making to the immediate employer the payment out of which the said earnings will be paid.

Notification of information regarding special contributors.

- 40. (1) The employer of a special contributor shall send to the Department notification of his name and address and the name and address of the special contributor within 14 days of the commencement of the employment.
- (2) Where a change occurs in a name or address which has been notified under this article the employer shall send a notification of the change to the Department within 14 days of the change.
- (3) Where an employer ceases to employ a special contributor he shall notify the Department within 14 days of the cessation of employment of the name and address of the contributor, the date on which the employment ceased and the total amount of earnings paid to the contributor for the contribution year up to and including the date of cessation of employment.

Treating deductions from earnings as payments to special contributors.

41. The amount of a special contributor's earnings for any contribution year shall be the amount of the remuneration which is paid to or for the benefit of that contributor in that contribution year and for this purpose any sums deducted for any reason from any payment on account of a special contributor's remuneration which is or would, but for such deduction, be made in any contribution year shall be treated as paid to or for the benefit of the contributor in that contribution year.

Optional Contributors

Application to become optional contributor.

42. An application by a person engaged in share fishing to become an optional contributor shall be made to the Minister in the form for the time being approved by him for that purpose.

Information to be given when applying to become optional contributor.

43. Every person who applies to become an optional contributor shall furnish to an officer of the Minister such certificates, documents, information and evidence as may be required by him for the purpose of deciding the application.

Information to be supplied by optional contributor.

- 44. Every optional contributor shall—
 - (a) furnish to an officer of the Minister such certificates, documents, information and evidence as may be required by him for the purpose of determining the rate of optional contribution payable, and
 - (b) notify the Minister of any change in circumstances which would cause that person to cease to be an optional contributor.

Payment of optional contributions.

- 45. (1) Subject to sub-article (2), an optional contribution payable in respect of any contribution year (including a contribution payable in instalments under article 46) shall be paid to the Minister before the end of that contribution year.
- (2) Where a person who, having become an optional contributor within the three months before the end of a contribution year, pays an optional contribution in respect of that contribution year not later than three months following the last day of the said contribution year, the optional contribution so paid shall be treated as having been paid before the end of the contribution year to which it relates.
- (3) An optional contribution which is not paid in accordance with the provisions of this article shall be treated as not having been paid.

Manner of payment optional contributions.

46. An optional contributor may, on receipt of notification of the amount of the optional contribution due by him in respect of a contribution year, elect to pay such contribution in one payment or in such instalments as may be agreed by him with an officer of the Minister authorised by the Minister for this purpose.

Refund of optional contributions.

- 47. Where an optional contribution is—
 - (a) treated, in accordance with article 45(3), as not having been paid, or
 - (b) paid in respect of the contribution year in which the optional contributor reaches pensionable age, the amount of such contribution shall be refunded to the optional contributor by the Minister.

Determination of optional contributions in certain circumstances.

48. Where a person becomes an optional contributor in the contribution year in which he first became insured as a self-employed contributor, the optional contribution payable by him in respect of that contribution year shall be the sum specified in section 18(1)(h).

F155[Return of contributions maintenance arrangements.

- 72B. (1) In this article In this article maintenance means a payment made under or pursuant to a maintenance arrangement—
 - (a) within the meaning of section 1025 of the Act of 1997 relating to a marriage, where the maintenance arrangement is for the benefit of the other party to the marriage, unless section 1026 of that Act applies in respect of the payment,
 - (b) within the meaning of section 1031J of the Act of 1997 relating to a civil partnership, where the maintenance arrangement is for the benefit of the other party to the civil partnership, unless section 1031K of that Act applies in respect of that payment, or
 - (c) within the meaning of section 1031Q of the Act of 1997 relating to a relationship between cohabitants, where the maintenance arrangement is for the benefit of the other cohabitant to the relationship.
 - (2) Subject to these Regulations, where in any contribution year—

- (a) an employment contribution is paid by an employed contributor,
- (b) a self-employment contribution is paid by a self-employed contributor,
- (c) an optional contribution is paid by an optional contributor,
- (d) a voluntary contribution is paid by a voluntary contributor,
- (e) a contribution under Chapter 5A of Part 2 of the Act of 2005 is paid by a person to whom that Chapter of that Part applies, or
- (f) a contribution under Chapter 5B of Part 2 of the Act of 2005 is paid by a person to whom that Chapter of that Part applies, and that contributor has also paid maintenance in that contribution year, an amount, calculated in accordance with this article, of such contribution may be returned to that contributor if application to that effect is made in writing to the Minister within such time as he or she may determine.

(3) The amount to be returned to a contributor to whom sub-article (2) applies shall be the amount of the contribution that was paid by that contributor in that contribution year in respect of the portion of his or her reckonable earnings, reckonable emoluments, reckonable income or remuneration (within the meaning of section 30A of the Act of 2005), as appropriate, that corresponds to the amount of maintenance paid in that contribution year and such amount shall, subject to sub-articles (4) and (5), be calculated in accordance with the formula—

where-

M is the amount of maintenance paid in that contribution year, and

R is the highest rate of contribution paid by the contributor in that contribution year.

(4) Where the amount of maintenance paid in a contribution year exceeds the amount of reckonable earnings, reckonable emoluments, reckonable income or remuneration (within the meaning of section 30A of the Act of 2005), as appropriate, to which the highest rate of contribution applies in that contribution year, the amount to be returned to a contributor to whom sub-article (2) applies shall be calculated in accordance with the formula—

$$(A \times H) + (E \times N)$$

where-

A is the amount of reckonable earnings, reckonable emoluments, reckonable income or remuneration (within the meaning of section 30A of the Act of 2005), as appropriate, to which the highest rate of contribution applies in that contribution year,

H is the highest rate of contribution paid by the contributor in that contribution year,

E is the portion of reckonable earnings, reckonable emoluments, reckonable income or remuneration (within the meaning of section 30A of the Act of 2005), as appropriate, that corresponds to the amount of the maintenance paid in that contribution year which exceeds A, and

N is the next highest rate of contribution paid by the contributor in that contribution year.

(5) Where the amount of maintenance paid in a contribution year exceeds the aggregate amount of reckonable earnings, reckonable emoluments, reckonable income or remuneration (within the meaning of section 30A of the Act of 2005), as appropriate, to which the highest rate and next highest rate of contribution applies in that contribution year, the amount to be returned to a contributor to whom sub-article (2) applies in relation to that further excess shall be calculated by reference to the portion of his or her reckonable earnings, reckonable emoluments, reckonable income or remuneration (within the meaning of section 30A of the Act of 2005), as appropriate that corresponds to the amount of the maintenance paid in that contribution year which exceeds the aggregate of A and E (within the meaning of sub-article (4)) and the next highest rate of contribution paid in that contribution year and any further excess shall be calculated in like manner.

(6) Notwithstanding sub-articles (3) to (5), where the return of an amount of contributions in accordance with this article would have the effect of reducing the amount of voluntary contributions, self-employment contributions or optional contributions paid by that contributor below the minimum amount of such contribution applicable in that contribution year in his or her case, the amount of such contributions to be returned in that contribution year shall be the difference between the said minimum amount and the amount calculated in accordance with sub-articles (3) to (5).

F156 Refund of contribution payments to personal pensions.

72C. (1) Section 91 of the Pensions Act, 1990 (No. 25 of 1990) is prescribed for the purpose of section 29C(2).

(2) In this article—

F157["health contribution" means a health contribution payable under section 5 of the Health Contributions Act, 1979;]

"pension payment" means a payment specified in Section 29C in respect of any contribution year commencing on or after 1 January, 2003.

"allowable pension payment" in relation to a contribution year and an insured person, means the amount of a pension payment made by the insured person on or after January 1, 2003, to the extent to which, as the case may be—

- (a) it is, by virtue of section 774 or 776 of the Taxes Consolidation Act 1997 (No. 39 of 1997), allowed as a deduction from emoluments for the purposes of an assessment to income tax on the insured person under Schedule E of the Income Tax Acts for the year of assessment corresponding to the contribution year, or
- (b) it is, by virtue of section 787 or 787C (inserted by the Pensions (Amendment) Act 2002) of the Taxes Consolidation Act 1997 deducted from or set off against the relevant earnings, within the meaning of section 787 or 787B (as so inserted) of that Act, as is appropriate in the circumstances, of the insured person for the year of assessment which corresponds to the contribution year, other than an amount of a pension payment to which Regulations 41 and 42 of the Income Tax (Employments) (Consolidated) Regulations, 2001 (S.I. No. 559 of 2001) applies.

PT. III Art. 72C

Regulations 1996

- (3) Subject to these Regulations where in any contribution year commencing on or after 1 January 2002, an employment contribution under section 10(1)(b) or a selfemployment contribution under section 18(1)(c) is paid by an insured person and that person has also made a pension payment, such amount of contribution, if any, as is determined in accordance with this article, may be returned to that person by the Minister or the Collector-General, as the case may require, if application to that effect is made in writing to the Minister or the Collector-General, as appropriate, within such time as he or she may determine.
- (4) Subject to sub-article (6) in the case of an employed contributor the amount of contribution to be returned for a particular contribution year under sub-article (3) shall be determined as follows:
 - (a) where an insured person's reckonable earnings in that contribution year are less than or equal to the amount specified in section 10(1)(c), the amount of contribution to be returned shall be calculated in accordance with the formula:

or

F158[(b) where an insured person's reckonable earnings in that contribution year exceed the amount specified in section 13(2)(c) but when reduced by the amount of allowable pension payment is less than the amount specified in section 13(2)(c) in relation to that particular contribution year, the amount of contribution to be returned shall be calculated in accordance with the formula:

$$[(C - (A - P))] R + [(P - E) x R1]$$

where-

A is the reckonable earnings,

C is the amount specified in section 13(2)(c) for that particular contribution year,

E is the amount by which the allowable pension payment exceeds C - (A)

P is the amount of the insured person's reckonable earnings which equates to the allowable pension payment in that year, and

R is

- (i) the highest rate of contribution paid by the insured person in that contribution year, or
- (ii) in the event of the amount paid in respect of the allowable pension payment exceeding the amount of reckonable earnings, to which the highest rate of health contribution applied in that contribution year, the next highest rate of health contribution paid in descending order.

(5) Subject to sub-article (6) in the case of a self-employed contributor the amount of contribution to be returned under sub-article (3) shall be calculated in accordance with the formula:

 $P \times R$

where

- P is the amount of the insured person's emoluments which equates to the allowable pension payment in that year, and
- R is the rate of self-employed contribution paid by the insured person in that contribution year.
- (6) In the case of an insured person who is both an employed contributor and a selfemployed contributor the amount to be returned under sub article (3) shall be determined:
 - (a) in accordance with sub-article (4), and
 - (b) in accordance with the formula:

 $P \times R$

where-

- P is the amount of the insured person's emoluments which equates to the allowable pension payment in that year, if any, in respect of which a return is not due under sub-article (4), and
- R is the rate of self-employment contribution paid by that person in that contribution year
- (7) F159[(a) Notwithstanding sub-articles (4) or (6)(a) where an employed contributor's reckonable earnings when reduced by the amount of allowable pension payment is greater than the amount specified in section 13(2)(c) in relation to that particular contribution year, no employment contribution (except so much of the employment contribution that constitutes a health contribution paid by the insured person) shall be returned.
 - (b) Notwithstanding sub-articles (4), (5) or (6)(b), where the return of a contribution would have the effect of reducing that person's self-employment contribution below the minimum amount of contribution applicable in his or her case, the amount of contribution to be returned shall be the difference between the minimum rate applicable and the amount calculated in accordance with the said sub-articles.

Subsidiary Employments and Employment of Inconsiderable Extent

Subsidiary Employment. 89. Each of the employments specified in Schedule C is hereby specified as being of such a nature that it is ordinarily adopted as subsidiary employment only and not as the principal means of livelihood.

Determination of employment of inconsiderable extent.

- 90. (1) Subject to article 91 and article 95, employment in any contribution week (which apart from these Regulations would be insurable employment) in one or more employments (other than systematic short-time employment) where the total amount of reckonable earnings payable to or in respect of an employee from such employment or employments is less than F307[EUR 38] in or in respect of that contribution week is hereby specified as being employment of inconsiderable extent.
- (2) For the purposes of sub-article (1), systematic short- time employment shall be deemed to occur in a firm or undertaking where the employees of such firm or undertaking had, prior to its introduction, been engaged in full-time remunerative employment and where, subsequent to the introduction of systematic short-time employment, the employees are working a lesser number of hours in the working week than was normal to that firm or undertaking and where there is an expectation that the firm or undertaking will resume normal full-time working within a reasonable period.

Persons treated as employers.

96. In relation to any employment specified in the first column of Schedule D the person specified opposite thereto in the second column shall for the purposes of the Principal Act be treated as the employer of the employed contributor employed in that employment.

Exemption from liability to pay employment contributions for persons temporarily employed in State.

97. The Minister may, if he thinks fit, make exception from liability to pay employment contributions which would otherwise be payable, for a period not exceeding fifty-two contribution weeks, in respect of the temporary employment of a person who is not ordinarily resident in the State, and whose employer is not ordinarily resident in the State or has not his principal place of business in the State, or in Northern Ireland, or in Great Britain or in the Isle of Man.

Payment of contributions while employed outside of the State.

- 98. (1) Where an insured person who is ordinarily resident in the State is temporarily employed outside the State in the service of an employer who is resident or has a place of business in the State in an employment which, but for the words "in the State" in paragraph 1 of Part 1 of the First Schedule to the Principal Act would be employment within the meaning of that paragraph, the said paragraph shall be construed as if the words "in the State" were deleted therefrom and the provisions of the Principal Act which govern the payment of employment contributions shall apply in respect of that person.
- (2) For the purposes of applying the provisions of sub-article (1), a person shall cease, unless the Minister otherwise decides in any particular case, to be treated as temporarily employed outside the State where the period of absence exceeds fifty-two contribution weeks.

Exemption from liability to pay contributions in the case of certain volunteer development workers.

- 99. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of article 98, the Minister may make exception from liability to pay employment contributions which would otherwise be payable by virtue of that article in respect of the employment of volunteer development workers who have secured their employment by or through the organisation known as the Agency for Personal Services Overseas or by or through a non-governmental agency in the State.
- (2) In relation to employment being insurable employment as a Volunteer Development Worker to whom paragraph (a) in the definition of a Volunteer Development Worker in section 2(1) refers, the Agency for Personal Services Overseas shall, for the purposes of the Principal Act, be treated as the employer of the employed contributor employed in that employment.

Annotations

This Revised Statutory Instrument is annotated and includes textual and non-textual amendments and previous affecting provisions.

An explanation of how to read annotations is available at www.lawreform.ie/annotations.

Material not updated in this revision

Where other legislation is amended by this statutory instrument, those amendments may have been superseded by other amendments in other legislation, or the amended legislation may have been repealed or revoked. This information is not represented in this revision but will be reflected in a revision of the amended legislation if one is available.

Where legislation or a fragment of legislation is referred to in annotations, changes to this legislation or fragment may not be reflected in this revision but will be reflected in a revision of the legislation referred to if one is available.

A list of legislative changes to any Act, and to statutory instruments from 1972, may be found linked from the page of the Act or statutory instrument at
