F62[Acceptance of safety management
Commission

46.— (1)(a) The Commission shall notify a railway organisation of its acceptance of a safety management document by issuing a certificate (“safety management certificate”) to that railway organisation.

(b) A safety management certificate may be subject to such conditions as may be deemed appropriate by the Commission.

(c) The form of safety management certificates shall be determined by the Commission.

(2) The Commission shall only accept a safety management document, or a revised safety management document under section 48, and issue a safety management certificate under subsection (1) where the information contained in the safety management document or in the revised safety management document is sufficient to satisfy the Commission that the railway organisation is capable, subject to any conditions set down for the safety management certificate, of carrying out its operations in compliance with the duty imposed on it under section 36.

(3) Where the Commission is not satisfied in accordance with subsection (2) with a safety management document or a revised safety management document, the Commission shall, by notice in writing, require the railway organisation concerned to—

(a) reconsider the information contained in the safety management document or revised safety management document and, if appropriate, re-examine and amend the safety management system described therein, and

(b) have any changes made by it to the safety management document or revised safety management document examined by a person engaged in accordance with section 45(2) and have a report of the examination prepared by such person.

(4) A railway organisation in receipt of a notice under subsection (3) or in receipt of a safety management certificate that is subject to conditions in accordance with subsection (1)(b) may re-submit the safety management document or revised safety management document where, in the opinion of the railway organisation—

(a) in the case of the notice, the issues raised by the Commission in the notice have been addressed, or

(b) in the case of the safety management certificate that is subject to conditions, the safety management document or revised safety management document has been amended to the extent that the conditions are no longer warranted.

(5) The Commission, in deciding whether or not to issue a safety management certificate, for the purposes of satisfying itself under subsection (2), may request any additional information or clarifications from a railway organisation and the organisation shall comply with such a request.

(6) The re-submission of a safety management document in accordance with subsection (4) shall be accompanied by a report prepared under subsection (3)(b).

(7) In considering a safety management document or a revised safety management document submitted by a railway organisation, the Commission shall, in relation to the adequacy of the safety management system documented therein, have regard to the size and nature of the railway organisation and, in particular—

(a) the nature, extent and complexity of its railway infrastructure and operations,

(b) its interaction, if any, with railway infrastructure or trains of other railway organisations or with public roads, and

(c) the likely consequences for persons of any accident or incident on its railway.

(8) The Commission shall issue a safety management certificate under subsection (1) or a notice under subsection (3) as soon as practicable after it has completed its assessment but no later than 4 months after the date of receipt of the safety management document or revised safety management document or receipt of all information or clarifications requested under subsection (5).

(9) The acceptance of a safety management document or a revised safety management document by the Commission and the issuing of a safety management certificate shall not be interpreted as relieving a railway organisation of its duty under section 36.

(10) The Commission shall—

(a) refuse to issue a safety management certificate where it is not satisfied in accordance with subsection (2),

(b) revoke a safety management certificate issued under subsection (1) if the railway organisation which is the holder of the certificate fails to comply with its safety management document and the Commission considers that the railway organisation cannot comply with its duty under section 36, or

(c) revoke a safety management certificate if the railway organisation has not used it as intended in the year following its issue.

(11) Where the Commission proposes to refuse or revoke a safety management certificate in accordance with subsection (10), it shall notify the railway organisation concerned of the proposal and the railway organisation may, within 21 days of the date of the service of notification, make representations to the Commission, which shall consider them.

(12) Where the Commission decides to refuse a safety management certificate, or revoke the safety management certificate issued by it, the Commission shall inform the railway organisation concerned of its decision and the railway organisation may, not later than 14 days of the date of the service of the notice giving the decision appeal the decision to the High Court. The refusal or revocation does not take effect until the time allowed for an appeal has elapsed, and, in the case of an appeal, until either the appeal is withdrawn or the decision to refuse the safety management certificate or to revoke the safety management certificate is confirmed (with or without modification).

(13) The High Court may either allow the appeal or confirm the decision (with or without modification).

(14) The decision of the High Court on an appeal under subsection (12) is final, except by leave of the Court an appeal on a specified point of law lies to the Supreme Court.

(15)(a) A safety management certificate remains in force until—

- (i) it is revoked by the Commission under subsection (10)(b),
- (ii) it is replaced by a new certificate, or
- (iii) it becomes invalid.

(b) A safety management certificate is valid for a period not exceeding 5 years from the date of its issue. It may be renewed upon application by the railway organisation concerned as if for a new certificate.

(c) The Commission may require that a safety management certificate be updated, in whole or in part, whenever the type or extent of the operation of the railway organisation is substantially altered, or following legislative regulatory change.

(d) The holder of a safety management certificate shall without delay inform the Commission of all major changes in the conditions of the safety management certificate, and shall notify the Commission whenever new categories of staff or new types of rolling stock are introduced.

(16) Railway organisations shall be responsible for the level of training and qualifications of their staff carrying out safety-related work as set out in the safety management system.]

  - (i) is independent of the F69[railway organisation] having regard to the guidelines published by the Commission under subsection (1), and
  - (ii) has appropriate expertise for the purposes of carrying out an appropriate assessment or audit.

(11) Where, on receipt of a notification under subsection (9), the Commission is not satisfied as to the expertise or independence of the proposed person, the Commission shall communicate this, and the grounds for same, in writing to the F69[railway organisation] within 14 days of receipt of the said notification.

(15) A F69[railway organisation] which appoints a suitably qualified person under this section shall bear responsibility in all aspects for the appointment and the remuneration of such a person.

(16) Notwithstanding subsection (15) insofar as it relates to remuneration, in the case of a heritage railway the Commission may, with the consent of the Minister and the Minister for Finance and if it deems it appropriate to do so, agree to be responsible for the remuneration of the suitably qualified person and, where it gives its agreement to do so, may charge a fee to the heritage railway to offset in part the level of such remuneration and the level of the fee shall be decided by the Commission.

(17) Where the Commission proposes to be responsible for the remuneration of the suitably qualified person, it shall, before giving its final agreement to do so, be of the opinion that the scale of the remuneration required is appropriate and a heritage railway shall provide all necessary information to the Commission to enable it to reach an opinion.

(18) In this section—

Investigations by
organisation]s.

53.—(1) It shall be a duty of a F79[railway organisation] to carry out an investigation into a reportable F80[accident] F81[or incident] in order to establish the cause of such incident and to assess what, if any, action can be taken by the F79[railway organisation] to avoid F80[accident]s in the future or otherwise for the improvement of railway safety.

(2) For the purposes of carrying out an investigation under subsection (1), a F79[railway organisation] may interview any member of its staff or any other person engaged by it who, in the reasonable view of the undertaking, may be able to assist the undertaking in its investigations.

(3) A person who is being interviewed under subsection (2) may, if he or she requests, be accompanied—

- (a) where the person is a member of the staff of the F79[railway organisation], by one other member of the staff,
- (b) where the person is a member of the staff of another person engaged by the undertaking, by one other member of that staff,
- (c) by one person from an organisation which represents, as the case may be, the staff of the undertaking or the person engaged by the undertaking, or
- (d) at his or her own expense, by a legal or other adviser.

(4) A member of staff of a F79[railway organisation] or any other person engaged by a F79[railway organisation] shall, where requested by the F79[railway organisation] to do so, provide all reasonable assistance and in particular any relevant information that may be known to him or her, to enable the F79[railway organisation] to establish the cause or causes of the F80[accident] F81[or incident].

(5) If a member of staff of, or other person engaged by, a F79[railway organisation] objects to a question asked of him or her in accordance with subsection (4) on the grounds that the answer might tend to incriminate the person or make the person liable to a penalty and the person is informed of his or her obligation to answer the question, the person shall not refuse to answer the question but the answer given on that occasion shall not be admissible as evidence in criminal or other proceedings against the person other than proceedings against him or her in respect of the falsity of the answer or the failure to answer the question.

(6) A F79[railway organisation] shall in an expeditious manner carry out an investigation under subsection (1) and shall, as soon as practicable but in any event not later than 6 months after the date of the incident, prepare a report on its findings.

(7) Where the F79[railway organisation] is of the opinion that the report cannot be completed within the period specified in subsection (6), the F79[railway organisation] shall notify the Commission together with its reasons for reaching such opinion and shall provide an indication of the revised period for the completion of the report.

(8) The Commission may, where it deems it appropriate to do so, by notice in writing to a F79[railway organisation], request an interim report on an investigation under subsection (1) and a F79[railway organisation] shall provide such interim report within such period as may be specified in the notice.

(9) A report prepared under this section shall be in such form and contain such particulars as may, from time to time, be specified by the Commission but shall, in the case of a report under subsection (6), at minimum include full particulars of the incident, the cause or causes of same in so far as can be established and, where appropriate, recommendations to be adopted by the F79[railway organisation] to prevent the occurrence of incidents or otherwise for the improvement of railway safety.

(10) A report prepared under subsection (6), together with any relevant records gathered in the course of the investigation, shall be retained by a F79[railway organisation] for a period of at least 5 years from the date of completion of the report and the report shall, unless otherwise notified in writing by the Commission in any particular case or any particular types of investigations, be provided to the Commission within 14 days of its completion.

(11) Where a F80[accident] F81[or incident] is investigated under this section and the incident involves more than one F79[railway organisation], each relevant undertaking shall co-operate in the provision of information and in the conduct of the respective investigations.

(12) Where, during the course of an investigation under this section or after the completion of such investigation, the F79[railway organisation] responsible for the investigation considers that the cause or likely cause of the incident may have—

(a) implications for railway safety in general, or

(b) in a particular case may have implications for the safe operation of another F79[railway organisation], the F79[railway organisation] shall, at the earliest possible time, notify the Commission and, where appropriate, such other relevant F79[railway organisation] of such cause or likely cause of the incident and any recommendations which may be adopted arising from the investigation.

(13) Where the Commission receives a notification under subsection (12), it may take such action in relation to the dissemination of the information contained in the notification as it considers appropriate in the interests of railway safety.

(14) Where the Commission considers it appropriate to do so, it may designate an inspector or other suitably qualified person to observe the carrying out of an investigation under this section and the F79[railway organisation] shall facilitate such observation.

(15) The function of an inspector or other person designated under subsection (14) shall be to assess the adequacy of the investigation and to ensure that the procedures adopted are in compliance with the F82[safety management document] of the F79[railway organisation].

(16) Where an inspector or other person designated under subsection (14) considers an investigation under this section not to be adequate, or not to be in compliance with the procedures adopted in the F82[safety management document] of a F79[railway organisation], he or she shall, either during the investigation or after the completion of the investigation, notify the F79[railway organisation] in writing of his or her considerations and the F79[railway organisation] shall take all necessary actions to address the considerations.

(17) A F79[railway organisation] which fails to comply with a requirement of this section is guilty of an offence and is liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding €3,000, or

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding €60,000.

(18) A member of staff of, or other person engaged by, a F79[railway organisation] who fails to comply with a requirement of subsection (4) or (5) is guilty of an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding €3,000.
